Pastor's Corner - "So Much to be Thankful For"

"I thank my God every time I remember you. In all my prayers for all of you, I always pray with joy because of your partnership in the gospel from the first day until now, being confident of this, that he who began a good work in you will carry it on to completion until the day of Christ Jesus...And this is my prayer: that your love may abound more and more in knowledge and depth of insight, so that you may be able to discern what is best and may be pure and blameless for the day of Christ...to the glory and praise of God."

- Philippians 1:3-6, 9-11

Looking back over the relationships you have extended to me these last two years, I am overwhelmed with thanks for you – the members and friends of Church of the Apostles.

We began this journey together in the depths of the pandemic when vaccinations were yet being researched and masking, social distancing, and hand sanitation were the only known lines of defense. If you would have asked me at that point what our relationship would look like today, I never would have guessed the depth and richness of the relationships that have come to be.

Though you didn't know me, you welcomed me in. You participated in book studies and online devotionals. Many of you answered the door when I knocked unannounced, making space in your home as you shared the stories of your journey of faith and life. For some, the only contact we have shared is through calls exchanged, or letters and emails sent. Every time you replied, I rejoiced as I got to know one more person of this congregation.

These encounters have allowed me to see the deep passion and joy for God's Spirit present within you. Over these two years I have heard your heart for this church and for your personal walk with Christ (even when that walk was feeling uncertain). I have seen the ways in which you long to give yourself to service that matters. I have watched many of you grow in faith and mature in leadership. I have celebrated in the times you have reached out to one another to strengthen, encourage, or simply to express your care. Together we have laughed and cried, praised and sorrowed, pondered and wondered, as you welcomed me as a pastor into your life and into this church.

There is no doubt as we approach the end of my ministry here, on July 31st, that my heart will grieve the loss of such cherished relationships. For me, the grief speaks of how well you have loved and welcomed me, and for this I give God, and you, much thanks.

My prayer is that you further claim and live into the truth of who you are – a people centered and empowered by God's love. You have so much to offer this world, and already your light shines. Yes, there are struggles and challenges that will need to be faced. But even here you are calling yourself to greater excellence in Christ as you consider hiring a consultant to allow you to address these issues directly, collaboratively, faithfully, and with a heart set on success. May your light shine all the more because of your courage to step out into God's possibilities, knowing and believing that it is God who set the foundation of this church and who continues to lead it into God's future.

For me, there is much of your love, your grace, and your servant's heart that I will be taking with me as I continue to labor in service to God. Thank you for these gifts that have come because of your welcoming of me into this body and into each of your lives. I have been blessed through you!

With Christ's Love,

Pastor Joe

A Message from the Council President

As I write this, I am struggling with my emotions thinking about Pastor Joe's impending departure as our Associate Pastor. We have grown in our time with him and begun to form bonds. Leaving brings difficult feelings. I am choosing to focus on the positive things I have learned in my interactions with him. I also am choosing to accept the fact for him, the leaving is difficult but it brings positives for him in his future ministry. Our two pastors worked diligently at their relationship, but after at least 1½ years of counseling and coaching, they determined it was not to be. Reflecting on this, I am grateful that they are modeling a healthy separation.

Executive and Council will be working on the best way to assist Pastor Kathy in her ministry and looking at which way will be best to provide assistance in meeting the needs of the congregation.

Our Investigation Team has reached a point where they are recommending a consultant to come and work with COA and we expect that this work will begin in earnest in September. This will assist us in this critical time of change and looking toward the future.

I was drawn to this scripture, Ecclesiastes 3:1-8 : "To everything, there is a season and a time to every purpose under heaven." (Can you hear the Byrds singing this 60's tune in your head like I did?)

And in this time of anxiety and uncertainty this prayer:
 God be in my head and in my understanding
 God be in my eyes and in my looking
 God be in my mouth and in my speaking
 God be in my heart and in my thinking
 God be at my end and at my departing

God be with Pastor Joe as he departs from us and we thank him for all he has done for this congregation!!!

Blessings,
 Donna Carr

Member Seeking Temporary Residence

A member of Apostles is seeking to rent a space to live (anticipated to be less than a year) as they await an opening at a long-term care facility. The ideal short-term residence would be an unused in-law suite or other semi-private area with access to a personal bathroom, on the first floor and require no or minimal steps for entrance, large enough to accommodate a recliner, and allow parking for a car. Laundry and cleaning support is needed. To learn more about this possibility, please contact Pastor Kuhn.

Ethical Departure Guidelines for Pastoral Transitions

Utilizing guidance from the United Church of Christ's Ethical Departure Guidelines, the following covenantal agreement has been established to guide the congregation and Pastor Joe as he ends his service among us on July 31, 2022. These guidelines reflect best practices that have been born out of years of experience of pastoral transitions and are fully supported by the Council, Pastor Joe, and Pastor Kathy.

The guidelines provide practical examples of the change in communication patterns and relationships that are necessary for healthy endings, which are critical to new beginnings. As you read through the guide, you will see that this time of pastoral transition is one of letting go and saying goodbye. It is difficult work. It is also important work. Far too many congregations have become unnecessarily conflicted due to clergy and members who continued relationships beyond the time of leaving. Therefore, these guidelines, and adherence to them, is part of every clergy's ethical code of conduct and the needed work of every congregational member.

If you have questions as you read through this list please speak with a Council member or Pastor Joe to help clarify or further explain the rationale behind the guidelines.

Boundaries with the congregation:

- The departing pastor will leave with grace, seeking for the health and wellbeing of the congregation as it moves into its own future.
- The pastor will no longer be available to the congregation or affiliated persons for weddings, baptisms, funerals, church activities, pastoral care, etc., and the pastor will keep this commitment by directing all such requests to the current pastor of the church.
- The pastor will say "goodbye" – through an exit interview, through worship, and through farewell celebrations – and then practice saying "hello" to their new ministry setting.
- Following their departure date, the pastor is to transfer their church membership and ministerial standing to the new congregation and Association as soon as possible.
- In the rare instance that communication is needed following the pastor's departure, all communication requests will be directed through the current pastor of the church, who will determine how best for the communication to proceed, if at all.

Boundaries with social media:

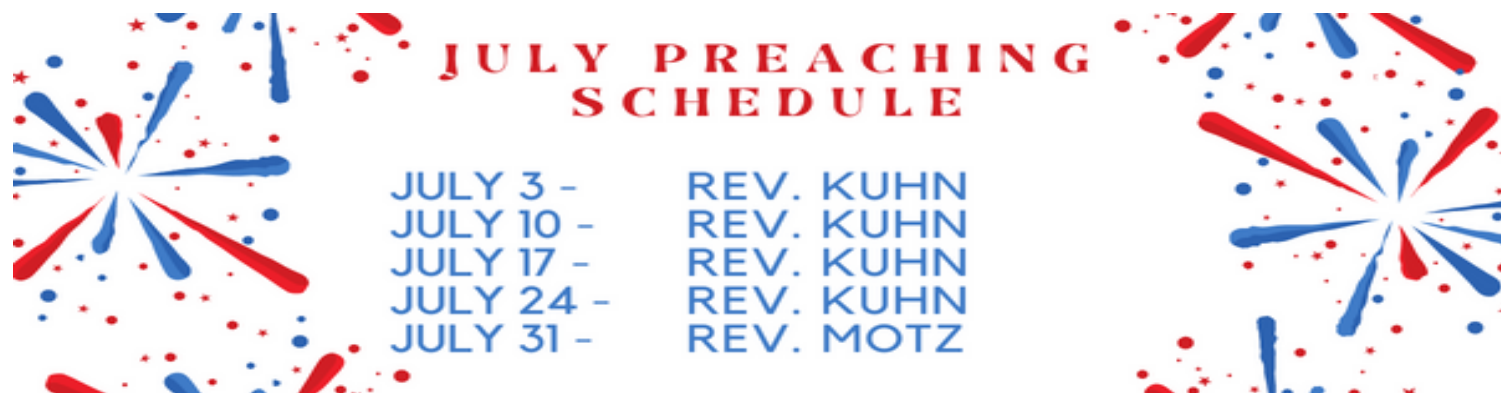

- The pastor is to unfriend/unfollow all congregants, on all social media platforms, and will be consistent in doing so.
- Following the end date of their call with the congregation, the pastor will refrain from providing pastoral care through digital communication. Continuing to provide pastoral care through digital means is a violation of the UCC Ministerial Code.
- Following a period of 1 year after their departure, the pastor may discern whether they will begin to accept friend requests made by former congregants. The pastor is not to initiate friend/follow requests with former congregants, and they must continue to refrain from providing pastoral care to former congregants.

Boundaries with the community:

- The pastor will inform hospitals, nursing homes, retirement communities, and other care facilities that they will no longer be available for bible study, worship services, or other pastoral duties following their departure date.
- The pastor will inform area funeral homes that they will no longer be available for funerals or memorial services following their departure date. They will encourage funeral directors to direct requests to the senior pastor of the congregation.

Note on contact within the community:

- It is possible that contact may occur with existing congregational members in the general course of life. Though the pastor is not to engage in pastoral care or conversations related to the congregation, it is appropriate and ethical for the pastor and congregational members to greet each other and exchange pleasantries.

A MUSICAL NOTE

WITH LARS POTTEIGER

Today's musical note is about a French Baroque composer and church musician I recently discovered while looking for some new postludes to play on the organ. I have found his music intriguing in his use of counterpoint (multiple melodies occurring in both hands simultaneously on the organ), as well as registration settings which are used to achieve various tone colors on the instrument.

Jean-François Dandrieu (c. 1682 – 1738) was a French Baroque composer, harpsichordist, and organist. Dandrieu was born in Paris into a family of artists and musicians, and began performing as a court harpsichordist at the age of five. He had the good fortune of performing for King Louis the XIV of France. These performances at the court of the king, and various other nobles, helped him immensely in his career, allowing him to secure some very prestigious church appointments as a result. Not only was he an accomplished church organist and harpsichordist, he also composed music for the harpsichord, organ, and chamber ensembles, composing his earliest pieces as a teenager. Dandrieu was a contemporary of Couperin and Rameau, and was a master in his use of counterpoint in his compositions.

Dandrieu's only published book of organ music was published in 1739, the year after he died. The last movement from his Suite In A Minor, ends with a Magnificat, as do the other suites he composed for organ. This movement of the suite is titled "Dialogue", and is intentionally titled to reflect the contrapuntal melodic interplay between the right and left hand parts. If you have an interest in hearing a recording of this piece, Michel Chapuis has an excellent version on his album L'Orgue de la Chapelle Royale de Versailles. I highly recommend this interpretation of the piece for its excellent sound capture and riveting performance.

Blessings,

Lars

Get to Know You

Karen Braun

I have been a member of Church of the Apostles for fifteen years. I am currently the Vice-President of Council, a member of Education Commission, Executive Committee, MPC and Worship Design. Over the years at COA, I have served as a reader at the 9 AM service, helped with Bible School, taught Sunday School, served on the Preschool Board of Directors, and participated in a Ministerial Search team.

I am a lifelong Lancaster resident who grew up in the Hempfield School District. I graduated from Hempfield and Millersville University with a degree in Elementary Education. I worked for the Penn Manor School District for twenty-eight years as a fifth and sixth grade teacher. I left teaching and started a second career at Homestead Village as a member of the Life Enrichment team. I am currently the Life Enrichment Program Manager overseeing the Apostles Center for Care and Westvue.

I have been married to Chris Braun for twenty-five years and we have two sons, Conner and Jared. Conner recently graduated from the University of Pittsburgh with a Business Degree in Finance, and Jared is graduating from Penn Manor High School this year. Jared will be continuing his education at Millersville University majoring in Secondary History Education. Our family is completed with our soft-coated wheaten terrier, Murphy.

My favorite COA memory is the Wednesday night children's choir group. Every Wednesday, families with children from infant to preteen would meet for a pizza potluck dinner and share in the joys and messiness of life. The evenings were filled with laughter and fun for all ages.

Refugee Families Update

We are happy to announce that the second refugee family has arrived in Lancaster! The Generina family, consisting of mom Mlasi, and four children, are excited to be reunited with Mlasi's sister, Bilemanga Bilombele and children, our first family who arrived a few weeks ago. The Welcome Team is busy taking them to health assessments, the Social Security office, and a clothing bank. We hope to get them involved with English instruction shortly.

If you would like to provide a card of welcome to the Bilombele or the Generina family, please bring it to church and put it in the basket in the Caring Cart. It would be great if you could look up a few words of Swahili to include in the card. Thank you!

Community Outreach

Lancaster Theological Seminary

Lancaster Theological Seminary is July's special giving opportunity. You are able to give through checks sent to the office or online through Realm or Vanco.

Across College Ave from the F&M campus is the campus of the Lancaster Theological Seminary [LTS], founded in 1825 at Dickinson College in Carlisle. Its purpose was to serve the Reformed church in the United States. It began with 1 professor, 5 students and 200 books. Today, LTS is associated with the United Church of Christ---with multiple graduates having served Church of the Apostles.

Today, enrollment is 88 students in varying degree programs. There are 7 full-time and 33 adjunct faculty members teaching a wide range of theological and related courses. Degree programs include: Doctor of Ministry, Master of Divinity, and a variety of certificate programs.

Students enrolled represent 11 states and 1 foreign country. Of the 88 students, 45 are women, 43 are men. Twenty denominations of Christians are represented by the student body. Sixty-nine percent of the students receive student aid. Both students and faculty are dependent, to varying degree on contributions to LTS by supporting denominations. The UCC is a major supporter. Unlike some graduate schools, LTS is educating those who are dedicated to serving others. Church of the Apostles has been blessed many times by graduates of The Lancaster Theological Seminary.

2022 Elmer Scholarships

The Education Commission is pleased to announce the 2022 recipients for the Helen Elmer Scholarship. This scholarship is awarded to high school seniors that are confirmed and plan to attend college.

Jared Braun graduated from Penn Manor High School and will attend Millersville University majoring in Social Studies Education focusing on History. He chose this field because "I enjoy history and wish to teach the next generation so that they can make the future better."

At Apostles Jared participated in youth group, downtown breakfast ministry, sound booth, bazaar, and youth council representative.

Haley Breslin graduated from Commonwealth Charter Academy. She has been accepted to the Pittsburgh Ballet Graduate Program and Point Park University. Haley said she chose this field to enable her to spread "my passion for ballet with many audiences and help younger generations find their passion for this art form".

At Church of the Apostles, she has participated with the downtown breakfast ministry, bunny breakfast, acolyte, reader, and youth group.
